Murder suspect arrested in La.

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
What people will do for revenge.
John O. George, 30, 116 Dafodil Lane, Waggaman, La., Jefferson Parish, was arrested at 4 a.m. Friday in connection with the murder of Dennis Root.
"We feel that it was a revenge type murder," Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said.
Root, who was shot just above the right eye Sunday, died Thursday from his injuries, Peterson said.
The Hancock County Sheriff's Department picked George up on Waggaman and transported him to the Hancock County Justice Facility and is currently incarcerated without bond, pending an initial appearance, Peterson said.

Root, 38, of Tate Street, Bay Side Park, was shot when he looked out the window of his camper trailer to see who was outside.
Peterson said that the investigation is continuing into the case.
Nathan Hoda is in charge of the investigation.

Pass man murdered

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
What started out as an armed robbery left a Pass Christian man dead early Monday morning.
The Pass Christian Police Department received the call at 1:46 a.m. and officers were notified that the family had one of the suspects in the shooting pinned to the floor; the other had escaped, Pass Christian Police Department Chief Investigator Tom Pustay said.
Tuong Nguyen, 30, of Camille Village in Pass Christian, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock Medical Center.
"He was shot near the center of his chest with a .25-caliber handgun," Pustay said.
The episode started when the family received a knock at the door.

"Someone cracked the door to see who it was and the suspects rushed the door. One of them succeeded in entering the home. They were trying to close the door back when another suspect stuck his arm through the doorway and shot Nguyen," Pustay said.
Arrested was Kha Pham, 24, Dories Street, Biloxi. Pustay said that he has been charged with capital murder and is currently in the Harrison County Jail and no bond will be set.
The department is still searching for leads concerning the person who shot Nguyen.
"It has been hard. No one actually saw him," Pustay said.
Pham was in possession of a weapon, but it was not the wea-

Waveland meeting takes care of business

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL
Waveland's Board of Mayor and Aldermen zipped through the business on Monday night's meeting agenda in record time and without conflict.
The board, with Mayor Stella Frilot conducting the meeting, accepted the minutes of the last meeting, approved payment of the monthly bills and accepted recommendations of the Planning and Zoning Commission. They also authorized spreading on the minutes that Court Clerk Paula Fayard and Carmel Marziale have completed several hours of continued education by attending the Mississippi Judicial College's seminar in Jackson in September.

The aldermen gave Waveland's Police Chief Jimmy Varnell the nod to go ahead with his plans to attend the mid-winter training conference of the Mississippi Association of Chiefs of Police in Columbus Nov. 15-18. The chief's mileage, registration fee and lodging will be paid for by the city.
Frilot recognized alderman Stan Weidman, who discussed the need for a stop sign at Rue De la Salle and Adams streets. He had heard the request from a resident. There is a handicapped child in the area and special care needs to be taken for the safety of the child, Weidman pointed out.

The board recognized the need and quickly approved the placement of a stop sign at that location. Chief Varnell suggested the area be made a four-way stop because residents had registered complaints about speeding in the neighborhood.
Curtis Colson requested striping for a pedestrian crosswalk at Dicks St., which was also approved.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE
 By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Where is our treasure?

Shackled by a compulsion to gamble, the assistant manager of a Winn-Dixie supermarket made off with the store's bank deposit of $30,289.11 and headed straight for the casinos on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

By the time he called his wife to report what he was doing, he had blown $5,700 of the receipts at various casinos. Unfortunately, this is by no means an isolated case.

"Since the advent of casinos, instances of embezzlement are multiplying among employees who are doing church-related work," a diocesan finance officer informed me recently. The temptation is just too great for debt-laden rollers.

So, whether we are talking about merchants anywhere in the marketplace, workers in God's vineyards among the churches, or legislators on Capitol Hill, the potential for corruption, stealing and cheating is there in force.

Casinos are top of the line of money-wasters which embody the symptoms of avarice. In our capitalist society where greed incentive is the engine which runs a healthy economy, we are very reluctant to say or write the word "avarice."

But, and perhaps therefore, avarice is quite alive and well. "How hard it is for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of heaven!" Jesus warned his disciples.

"It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for one who is rich to enter the kingdom of God." Though "eye of a needle" was some gate, the disciples were still amazed: "Then who can be saved (Mk. 10: 23, 25-26)?"

This message runs exceedingly deep. While the rich are the ones singled out, they are clearly only part of the target.

Why else would the disciples of Jesus ask in shocked disbelief: "Then who can be saved?"

In other words, the disciples understood well that Jesus meant both the rich and those whose hearts were set on riches, even though they had little or nothing to their name.

So Jesus was talking about the haves and the have-nots who are wish-they-hads. In the view of the disciples, this latter group comprises just about every living person.

This somewhat cynical view of the disciples alerts us to the distressing fact that most of us would be embarrassed to answer the question: Where is your treasure? Could we honestly say it rests in people, not in things?

The whole upshot of what Jesus is talking about can be captured in the statement: Choose people before things, and choose God before all other persons.

Admittedly, the whole gambling compulsion thing goes into far more than mere avarice, what with the thrill of risk and the chase, frustrations of life seeking an out, insecurity reaching for security, and plain old desperation of need.

Where is your treasure, anyway? Does it consist of material things which you already have: money, property, power, prestige, fame, notoriety and social status?

Or does it consist of the same material things which you do not have but covet with a juicily salivating tongue?

If so, your human relationships are all bankrupt, because everyone knows that you put things before them, that they are definitely not the treasures in your life. The only way out of bankruptcy and unhappiness is: Value people before things.

Library has a temporary home

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

It has found a home. The Anderson Genological Library has found a temporary home at the old Women's Infant's and Children's building on Dunbar Avenue.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Farve told the city council Tuesday that with minimal work, the library could be housed there soon.

Farve told the council that shelving will have to be built and an employee hired to man the facility.

The council approved entering into a lease agreement for the site for six months, at $500 monthly, and will then be on a month-to-month basis.

Councilman Jim Thriffley said that he would like to see highway signs made to point the way to the library.

The mayor also filled the council in on their beach renourishment program.

"Brown and Mitchell are working on the plans and specifications now. Our permit has been approved," Farve said.

Thriffley asked about private beach owners.

"They would pay their part and the area would remain private," Farve said.

The estimated cost of the project could run to almost $1 million to renourish the Bay St. Louis beach from The Dock of the Bay to the Bay St. Louis bridge, Farve said.

"I hope that it doesn't cost that much, but it very well could," Farve added.

In other matters, the council;

— Approved the recommendations of the planning and zoning commission.

— Approved the claims docket.

— Approved the letter bids. — Approved the sales tax/gaming revenue report.

— Approved the advertisement for bids for windows for the city hall annex.

— Approved a request for parade permit.

— Approved advertisement for bids for Demolition sidewalk construction.

CUEVAS QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I know I am not the only one who has had sinus problems this past week.

Guess it is the time of year when all of those airborne particles abound in the area.

It always seems to be at its worst for me in October and November of each year.

Allergy sufferers envy those who do not have any problems.

I have allergy problems, but I do know others who have more serious problems.

It just seems the older we get, the more problems we have to face.

On Thursday, while visiting the Diamondhead Rotary Club, I was talking to an elated Lou Lamendola, who has been named queen of the carnival season, along with Henry Kibler, who will be the king.

They are to be crowned on at the Coronation Ball Dec. 3, at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The Diamondhead Mardi Gras parade this year will be Feb. 25 with the theme 'Festival of the World.'

I have known Lou for several years and I know she will really enjoy her reign as queen at Diamondhead.

Just think folks, Mardi Gras is almost upon us.

Goodwill of South Mississippi has been operating along the Mississippi Gulf Coast for many years.

I have been proud to be on the organization's board of directors for the past several years and am amazed at how many individuals with disabilities are given a 'start' with Goodwill training.

Goodwill operates several retail stores along the coast with one at the Bay Mall Shopping Center, Highway 90 and Dunbar Avenue.

The store carries some very interesting items and they are all very reasonably priced.

It is good to see that Goodwill now will have a truck at the Diamondhead Shopping Center each Tuesday morning from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 to accept donations and give tax receipts.

The items sold in the Goodwill retail stores all come from donations.

If you reside in Diamondhead and find you have some items around the house no longer needed, why not give them to Goodwill?

Currently, there is an appeal being made by Goodwill for donations as resources have been strained over the past years, due to expansion of services to people with disabilities.

You can have home pickups arranged at Diamondhead by calling Linda at the Goodwill office, 863-2323.

Your donations will be greatly appreciated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Band member feels they need more publicity

To the Editor:

I have been a member of the Bay High Tiger Pride for three years. It saddens me to watch every year go by and see maybe two articles in the paper about any local band (that we didn't put in there).

Many people do not care what any of the local bands do. All I have to say is that we support the football team during the game. We provide entertainment both in the stands and on the field during half-time.

We hold concerts after football season for extra entertainment. Through all this we do not get any publicity or congratulations.

For every contest we go to, be it concert or marching, there is not one word in the paper.

All we want is some recognition. It could be one line, one paragraph, or even one page.

You could write that we did good, we could do better, or that it was the best/worst we've ever played.

You could write about the different sections, (trumpets, trombones, flutes, tubas, etc.) the soloists, the drum major, even Mr. Rowell. Pick one. Anything as long people start to know that we care.

I do not know if the different bands feel this way. I do not even know if my fellow band members feel this way. All I can give you is what I feel.

I hope you take my suggestions into consideration.

Yours truly,
Jaclyn Magelssen

P.S. We go to a marching contest in Foley, Ala. this Saturday, Oct. 22. We are the first band to play in the competition. (A class)

Reader says there are too many people on drugs

Dear Editor:

We are never going to stop the flow of drugs into our country.

There are too many people in high places using drugs. As an example, Marian Barry, the mayor of Washington, D.C., one of our largest cities, the Rock stars, whom our children idolize, and movie stars.

The attitude now toward drugs is matter of fact. One man recently told me, "Sure I use drugs, but I don't sell them." It was as if he were talking about having a beer.

I think we should legalize them. It would take the criminal element out of it and also the profit.

When things got so bad during the prohibition days we legalized alcohol, which is a drug. Things are worse now.

We never hear anything about alcohol, because we have to have our cocktail parties before we meet to discuss how we're going to stop drugs.

I have read where a lot of high school boys and girls are making vows to abstain from sex until they are married. We need a movement to take vows to abstain from drugs.

Sincerely,
Art Elkins

St. Stanislaus College is legal name of school

To the Editor:

On Oct. 10 an anonymous letter from a "faithful reader of the Sea Coast Echo" was sent to Br. Donnan, president of St. Stanislaus College Prep asking why "College" is still used in association with St. Stanislaus since it is a junior high and high school.

This is a brief explanation. In the early 1900's the school was accredited as a junior college. The legal title of the school then became "St. Stanislaus College." In 1923 the curriculum was changed to college preparatory. However, St. Stanislaus College remains as the legal name of the school, but in an effort to indicate the current nature of the school, we prefer to refer to it as St. Stanislaus College Prep.

Governor proclaims World Population Awareness Week

Governor Kirk Fordice has proclaimed Oct. 23-30 as World Population Awareness Week (WPAW) in the State of Mississippi.

In the proclamation, Governor Fordice points out that world population today is 5.6 billion and growing by nearly 100 million annually.

He said the world is confronted with "a number of potentially catastrophic environmental problems, widespread hunger and malnutrition, and preventable ills associated with overpopulation."

According to the proclamation, studies show that "one-half of the women of reproductive age in developing countries want to limit the size of their families but lack the means or ability to gain access to modern pregnancy prevention methods."

Fordice further notes that the global community has "for more than 20 years recognized the fundamental right of persons to determine voluntarily and responsibly the number and spacing of their children through pregnancy prevention education."

Werner Fornos, president of the Population Institute, organizer of the event, said he was "delighted that another state has chosen to recognize this crucial issue as the important priority it is for this year and this decade."

WPAW has been proclaimed thus far by 25 governors throughout the United States and has support in a total of 38 countries. The week has been cosponsored by 110 organizations with a combined 40 million members.

Commemorative resolutions recognizing the week have been passed by both the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate.

The Population Institute, a Washington, D.C.-based non-profit organization, seeks a more equitable balance between the world's population, environment and resources.

Beware, the flu's upon us

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL

Flu season is almost here again — the coughs and sniffles you are beginning to hear are a sure sign. Mississippi's flu season occurs in January when the weather gets colder and rainier and people take to the indoors, so shots should be obtained between October and November.

The flu is not just a bad cold, it can become a serious illness, if you don't take care. According to material released by Nurses Prn Flu Central, symptoms include sore throat, cough, fever, chills, weakness, loss of appetite, fatigue and aching of the head, back, arms and legs. Complication of the flu may include inflamed sinuses and inner ears, bronchitis and pneumonia.

By taking a flu shot, one can ward off a threatening case of flu. The vaccine is safe for almost everyone except those allergic to eggs and those who have chronic illnesses accompanied by fever, said coordinating nurse Ann Sharp, who administers the shots at Hancock County Health Department. The flu shots are given Mondays and Wednesdays from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Sharp said that, usually, the only side effect to the shot is a little soreness where the needle entered the skin.

Those particularly vulnerable to the flu are people over 65 and especially those who have serious medical problems. To them, a case of flu can have dangerous repercussions. According to literature from the American Lung Association, flu and pneumonia are the fifth biggest killers of people over 65.

Mississippi State Department of Health recommends flu shots for:

* People with a high risk of serious complications resulting from the flu including residents in nursing homes and other chronic care facilities, people with chronic pulmonary or cardiovascular diseases including children with asthma, and people with chronic metabolic diseases such as diabetes and some forms of immunosuppression.

Also included are health care workers who have contact with people from high risk groups, household members, including children, of people from high risk groups, travelers to the tropics and any person who wants to avoid the flu.

Flu shots are covered by Medicare, said Judy Yarbrough, office manager at the county health department. There is a $6 fee for others.

Flu vaccines wear off after four to six months, so a new shot must be taken every year.

Big city doings

Hey Dudes and Dudettes, jolly good morning to ya. Hope all you nice folks are cruising nicely through the weekend.

You all know by now what I think of our little community I so often call Paradise. I mean here we've got beautiful beaches, quiet neighborhoods, great food, and best of all, very interesting Cajun dudes and dudettes.

But I'm here to tell ya, our Louisiana neighbors to the west of us got quite a little show going on themselves. They've got the Dome, the French Quarter, lots of great music and plenty of sleaze, which is why it makes for my favorite playground away from home.

And so with the same anticipation I get on Christmas mornings I awoke last Sunday and began planning our big day: first of all a trip to the Dome to watch the Saints reach an all-time new low (they did not disappoint me). Then it would be a burger and beer, followed by a stroll down the famed Bourbon Street with my favorite gal.

We arrived at the Dome well equipped. I was wearing my best tourist clothes, a camera dangling from one arm and a pair of borrowed binoculars strapped around my neck. Clutched in my hands were four very good tickets that I had agreed to scalp for a friend who could not make the game.

You have to understand, I have never been to an NFL game, and I certainly have never scalped tickets before. So the thought of doing something new, and something I wasn't even sure was legal, really excited me. I was determined and full of confidence that I would be able to give my friend a nice return on his tickets.

I forgot one thing. I forgot to turn off that flashing neon sign that was attached to my forehead. It read "I AM AN IDIOT, PLEASE TAKE ADVANTAGE OF ME." And with that I jumped into the crowd, thrust the tickets over my head, and before I could say, "Tickets for sale," some dude had snatched 'em out of my hand and was headed for the wild blue yonder with $160 worth of tickets.

Being the naive dude I am, it took me a second to realize I had just been scammed. My first thought was to give chase, which I did. My second thought was, what to do if I should catch him, which I also did. So there I was standing face to face with this dude, a camera in one hand and an empty beer can in the other as my only weapons.

It was time to go to Plan B. So I started trying to reason with this punk saying stupid things like, "Come on man, this ain't right" and "I know you've had a rough life, but don't take it out on me."

In fact in no time at all I had talked myself right out of being mad and was contemplating offering this "poor soul" a place to stay until he could get on his feet. I did actually manage to recoup a small amount of money from him, which I'm sure he gave to me just to keep me from lecturing him anymore.

The rest of the day in New Orleans proved to be just what I expected. Plenty of sleaze and great sidewalk entertainment, especially that old, unshaven, drunk-on-his-butt dude who had a microphone attached to a broomstick and was acting like a singer. For that trick he earned a dollar from me.

Praise for do-gooders this week goes out to everyone who so graciously donated money for our Newspaper in Education program. It's folks like you who really make a difference. Peace.

TOUGH TALK

That's what you seem to hear from all the candidates for Appellate Court Judge. They talk tough because they know the public wants to hear it.

However, only one candidate has a tough track record.

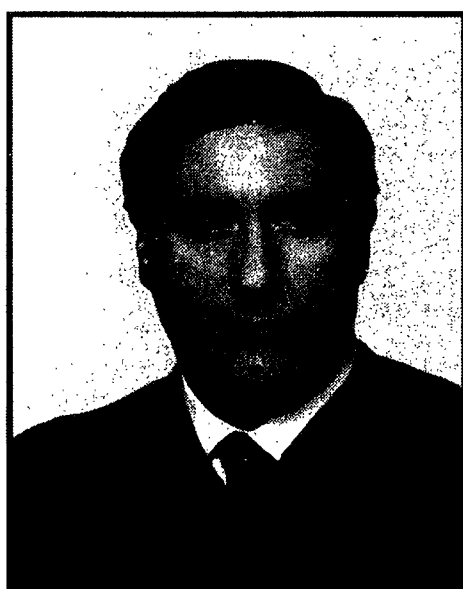

Judge James Thomas spent 8 years as Assistant District Attorney, then 12 years on the Circuit Court bench. During that time, he earned a reputation for protecting the rights of victims, sending thousands of criminals to jail. In fact, he sentenced criminals to maximum imprisonment so often that he earned the nickname "Ten Year Thomas."

Now, as Appellate Court Judge, Thomas can make sure the criminals he sentenced to jail, stay there.

"As a former prosecutor and active trial judge, I've seen criminal cases drag on for too long on appeal, only to have the criminal end up back out on the streets. I ask that you elect me Judge to the Court of Appeals so I can put a stop to needless delays and ensure that the victim sees justice."

James Thomas is the only sitting judge in the race, and the only candidate endorsed by the Mississippi Prosecutors Association.

On Tuesday, Nov. 8th, Vote for Judge James Thomas, the man who delivers more than tough talk.

Bay High started the first drive of the second quarter and were able to work their way to the Hawks' 41-yard line.

Here, because of the strong Hawk defense, the Tigers decided to go for a field goal attempt.

The attempt was no good with 10:13 still to go in the half.

The Hawks started their next drive on the Tiger 20-yard line and were able to move the ball to the Tiger 43 before they were forced to punt.

Bay High had some troubles on this possession. On the first snap Xavier Lewis gained only 2 yards. Then, Tiger quarterback Wali Shabazz was sacked behind the line of scrimmage for a loss of 9 yards.

Reggie Williams carried the ball for no gain and on fourth down the Tigers were forced to punt.

As with the first quarter, Hancock dominated the clock in the second and their next possession was no exception.

The Hawks were in possession at the beginning of the third quarter. They moved the ball down the field with relative ease until the Tiger defense kicked in.

Eagles rip Pirates 34-6

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Eagles landed Friday, square on the backs of the Pirates.

The North Forrest Eagles continued their undefeated streak with their ninth consecutive win in a 34-6 victory over Pass Christian. The Pirates slipped to 6-3 for the season and 2-1 in the district.

Several Pirate players became ineligible to finish the season because of the district's no pass/no play rule. Since report cards were issued during the school day Friday, the ineligibilities took effect only hours before the game.

According to defensive coordinator Glenn Williams, those affected included senior starting quarterback Kevin Clark, sophomore running back Grant Jones, freshman lineman Joseph Ingram, freshman running back Daniel Harvey, and Wesley Cook, who had already been sidelined with an injury.

Other injured players are junior Wayne Waltman, who tore a ligament in practice before the Heidelberg game; senior starting quarterback Willie James, out since early in the season with a broken foot; and senior running back Henry Henderson, who just returned to the field, but whose playing is limited by his recuperating knee.

Williams didn't list any of those reasons for the Pirates' loss, though. He said, "The and-butter plays. It created problems for us because although we ran it in practice, when you don't run the play the way they run it, you can't really be prepared for it.

"We defended it, but we just didn't tackle the people the way we should have."

The Pirate defense held strong throughout the first quarter. The Eagles took the opening kick and advanced to the midfield mark during their first three plays, but fumbled on the fourth play. The Pirates took over at the 50.

After a short series with only minor gains, the Pirates punted to the Eagle 20. The Eagles lost 5 yards during the next three plays and were forced to punt.

After another brief possession, the Pirates punted into the Eagle end zone to make it first and 10 for the Eagles at their own 20. The Eagles kept the ball for the rest of the quarter, mounting a drive that put them on the Pirate 19 at the end of the first period of play.

After setting up to start the second quarter, the Eagles' first play, a pass to Chris Gray, gave North Forrest the first touchdown of the night. A two-point conversion play on a pitch to Bud Haralson succeeded, making the score 8-0 with 11:50 to go in the half.

Pirate Darrell Biggs took the ensuing kick from the Pirate 15 to the 25-yard line. He also ran the next three plays for short gains, but the Pirates were unable to pick up a first down and had to punt.

A Pirate penalty on the punt forced a rekick from the Pirate 15. The kick was blocked, but Pirate Rickey Lewis picked up the loose ball and ran it out to the Pirate 30.

An Eagle pass attempt failed, but Haralson gained 6 yards on the next play, a run left. Pirate Henry Tops III ran him out of bounds.

Haralson caught a pass on the next play, but fumbled when he was hit. Pirate Darrell Dedaux recovered to give Pass Christian the ball on the Pirate 9-yard line.

The Pirates initiated a running game with Biggs and Lewis carrying, advancing the ball to the Pirate 42. After a hit for a 2-yard loss, and an incomplete pass, the Pirates were forced to punt.

The Eagles again blocked the punt, so Lewis ran the ball. He was stopped at the Pirate 35.

The Eagles took over, giving the ball to junior running back Johnathan Harris. He headed around the left end, and made it over the goal line. Another two-pointer was made, this time on a pass to Tarral Rogers. With 3:05 in the half, the score was 16-0.

Ward took the ensuing kick at the 16 and ran it to the 47. After a loss of 9 yards on a sack, freshman quarterback Raynoid Hatchet passed to Lewis, who ran the ball to the Eagle 35.

The Pirates lost 5 on the next two runs, attempted a pass, and were forced to punt. They punted to the Eagle 18 with 38 seconds left in the half.

The Eagles ran one play, then ran out the clock.

The Pirates ran the first series of the second half, but lost the ball on a pass interception by Gray, who advanced to the Pirate 44.

Gray, Harris and Haralson moved the ball to the Pirate 8-yard line, then quarterback Brian McLelland scored on a keeper. The two-point PAT attempt failed, leaving the score at 22-0 with 8:05 left in the third quarter.

Pirate Keith Anderson received the onside kick and ran it to the Pirate 36. Biggs pushed up the middle to the 48, then Lewis, who had been put in as QB, made a short gain on a keeper.

He kept again, running a quarterback sneak for another short gain to the Eagle 46. Next, he fired off a pass to Leonard Ward, who ran to the 2-yard line.

Hatchet went back in as quarterback; Lewis returned to his running back position; and the Pirates scored on a handoff from Hatchet to Lewis.

The two-point PAT attempt failed, and the score remained 22-6 with 5:19 left in the quarter.

Harris took the Pirates' onside kick at the 33-yard line and advanced it 2 yards. He ran the next three plays for the Eagles, moving to the Pirate 44.

Haralson ran the next play to the Pirate 16, then Harris gained 2 more yards on a short run. A pass to Demetris Curtis fell incomplete in the end zone.

A second pass, to Gray, was complete to put the Eagles at the 4-yard line.

Harris made the short run for the score, and the Eagles set up for a kick, which went wide to the right. With 1:26 to go in the third quarter, it was 28-6 Eagles.

The Pirates kept the ball until several minutes into the fourth quarter, when they were forced to punt. The Eagles took over at their own 25.

They mounted another clock-running drive that ended in their final score with 5:05 left to play. Carlos Williams ran the ball in from the 10 for the TD. The point-after attempt failed, making it 34-6 with almost half a quarter to go.

The Pirates ate up four minutes with their final possession, then were forced to punt. The Eagles ran three plays to finish the game.

Pirate head coach Joseph Brown resembled a ball carrier trying to fend off tacklers as he left the field. He extended an arm toward the press and said, "Too much Eagles, not enough Pirates. That's it." He never broke stride as he headed for the locker room.

After speaking to the players for several minutes, coach Williams came out, quipping that he was the "designated talker" for the evening.

"We have two district games left. We're in a tie for second, and we have a shot at the playoffs," he said. "Our next game is at home against Lumberton."

"I think the kids will rise to the occasion and regroup. At this point in time in the last couple of years, we've been out of the playoffs after this game. We feel good about it that we're not this year."

Correction

America the Beautiful A photo travelogue

Story and photos
By Margaret Williamson

America the Beautiful, what an understatement! My husband and I have just returned from a two-week vacation, 4,000 miles, through 17 states.

The Blue Ridge Parkway in Virginia was ablaze with every autumn color. The Hudson River, in New York, with its lush green foliage had magic all its own.

In Vermont, the changing leaves were spectacular. Every village there was quaint and lovely. The sea coasts of Maryland, Rhode Island and New Jersey, with their marvelous history, were pictures of grace, charm and Old World elegance, with pristine beaches inviting you to stare out at the great Atlantic Ocean.

The mountains, rivers and gently flowing creeks of North Carolina, Tennessee and Alabama had magnificent charm all their own. There was beauty everywhere, even alongside the interstates and highways were great patches of wildflowers.

Fall was present everywhere in displays of flags, dried corn stalks, pumpkins and hay.

As we arrived back home in Mississippi, we know how fortunate we are and how grateful we should be to live in this part of the world. We truly feel that "God is in His heaven, and all is right with the world."

Excuses can lead to the death of children

The mangled, lifeless body of a child almost brought tears to the eyes of a veteran highway trooper who had investigated hundreds of motor vehicle crashes.

The child's parents will never forget the day, and they are haunted by the thought that this tragedy could have been prevented.

Immediately after the crash, the child, who was not buckled into a child safety seat, was violently thrown against the automobile's dashboard.

"This happens so fast and with such force, even in low-speed crashes, that neither the child nor in a safety seat nor an adult can prevent the child from suffering a violent impact," said Donald O'Cain, executive director of the Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning. Children riding in safety seats have an excellent chance of surviving a motor vehicle crash and may not even be injured.

O'Cain noted that parents have many excuses for not buckling their children into safety seats.

"Some think the child would be safe in his or her mother's arms, but this is one of the worst places a child can be in a crash.

"Others might excuse themselves by indicating that the child cries when he or she is in a safety seat, but, like other positive actions learned, the child also can learn to accept the use of a safety seat. Perhaps the most understandable, although not valid, excuse is that the parents cannot afford the cost of a safety seat, but there are safety seat loan programs in virtually every area of Mississippi."

Information on where to obtain the loan of a safety seat is available via a telephone toll-free hotline, 1-800-9BUCKLE (928-2553). This hotline is sponsored by the Child Occupant Protection Project of the Division of Public Safety Planning and the Mississippi Department of Rehabilitation Services.

To stress the importance of motor vehicle safety seats, Mississippi law requires that any child under the age of 4 be in a child safety seat while riding in a motor vehicle, even if the driver is not the child's parent or legal guardian.

The type of child safety seat used depends upon the age and weight of the child. Infants up to about 20 pounds should ride facing the rear of the vehicle in infant-only or convertible (those that convert from rear-facing for infants to forward-facing for toddlers) safety seats.

However, if the vehicle is equipped with a front-seat passenger air bag, the infant should not be facing the rear of the front seat; the safety seat should be placed in the vehicle's back seat.

"The time to begin using the infant safety seat is on the baby's first ride home from the hospital," O'Cain said.

Children weighing about 20 to 40 pounds should ride forward in convertible safety seats or harness systems. Children who have outgrown convertible seats or harnesses should ride in booster seats until adult safety belts fit them properly.

O'Cain emphasized that child safety seats and adult safety belts should be used whenever children and adults are riding in motor vehicles.

"Don't make the mistake of using these devices only on free-ways or for long trips. Most motor vehicle crashes occur within 25 miles of home," he said.

"The bottom line," O'Cain noted, "is that there is no valid excuse for not protecting children motor vehicle passengers with child safety seats. Using safety seats is a matter of love and commonsense."

USM researcher traces ocean activity

The smallest clues to the causes of global warming are contained in water samples studied by scientists like Dr. Alan Shiller.

Shiller, assistant professor of marine science at the University of Southern Mississippi's Center for Marine Sciences at Stennis Space Center, is a marine trace element geochemist.

Shiller's research involves looking for small levels of elements dissolved in sea water — "anything that's difficult to measure, usually in the parts-per-billion concentration range or lower" — to help increase overall understanding of how the ocean works.

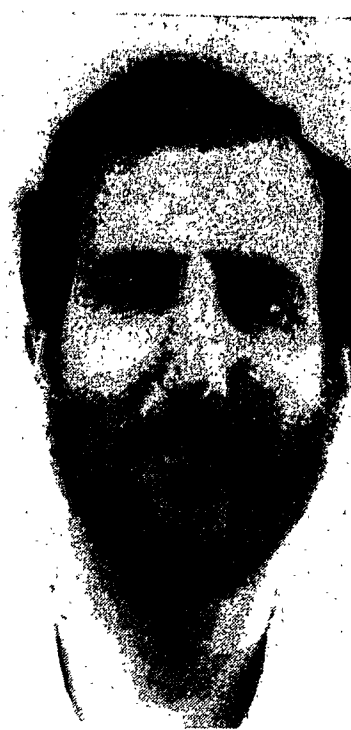

Studying trace elements and how they are used or affect minute floating aquatic plants called phytoplankton "can give important clues to processes happening in the ocean," Shiller said, noting clues "can be relevant to global environmental problems."

For example, Shiller currently is studying the distribution of dissolved iron in surface waters of the Atlantic Ocean. Phytoplankton require iron and its availability in sea water affects the plant's growth, Shiller said.

As they grow, phytoplankton "extract carbon dioxide from the water, which then causes carbon dioxide from the atmosphere to flow into the ocean to make up the difference," Shiller said.

"People are worried about all the carbon dioxide we're putting into the atmosphere through burning oil and other fossil fuels. Carbon dioxide is one of the greenhouse gases responsible for the global warming that scientists fear will take place this coming century — and which may have already started."

"So the amount of iron coming into the surface ocean is pertinent to the question of how fast can this greenhouse gas, carbon dioxide, be removed from the atmosphere," he added.

Other research Shiller has going on looks at dissolved lead in sea water, which "provides us with information about pollution sources as well as the climatic patterns that transport the lead from the source to ocean areas where we detect it."

He is also involved in research to find cost-effective and time-saving ways to analyze ocean waters for trace elements. Such research can "make it easier for monitoring agencies to do water quality monitoring," he said.

Shiller, 41, said a lifelong interest in science, coupled with environmental concerns he discovered during high school, helped shape his career choice. Though originally from southern California, Shiller said post-doctoral work on trace element levels in the Mississippi River exposed him to marine scientific studies going on elsewhere in the United States. When the CMS job became available in 1987, Shiller applied and was hired.

Farwell appointed fraternity director

Mrs. Robert W. Farwell of Diamondhead has been appointed fraternity director of collegiate programming for Delta Gamma, a women's fraternity which was founded in 1873 at Lewis School in Oxford.

In this capacity, she will supervise the programming activities for Delta Gamma's 136 collegiate chapters, which are located in the United States and Canada.

Listed in Who's Who of American Women, Farwell has been active in sorority work for many years.

As a student at LSU, she was pledged vice-president and chapter president.

Three years after graduation, she became assistant dean of women at LSU and advisor to the Panhellenic Council and sororities on campus, a position she held for more than five years.

She has served as president of the Baton Rouge and Louisiana Northshore alumnae groups.

On an international level, she has served as director of scholarship, director of awards, and province collegiate chairman. She is an alumni rush consultant and has assisted chapters on 15 campuses in this capacity. A Cable Award recipient and graduate fellowship name grant honoree, she has attended 16 Delta Gamma conventions.

Farwell received bachelor's and master's degrees from Louisiana State University.

She retired after 30 years service in St. Helena, East Baton Rouge and St. Tammany Parish Schools as a speech/language pathologist, supervisor of student teachers for LSU and pupil appraisal administrator.

With approximately 150,000 collegiate and alumnae members, Delta Gamma is among the oldest of women's fraternities.

The organization is well known for its contributions to aid the blind, sight conservation and educational grants and loans through the Delta Gamma Foundation.

Mrs. Robert Farwell

Delchamps announces results

Delchamps Inc. announced that net earnings for the 13-week period ended Oct. 1, 1994 were $1,475,000, compared with $2,521,000 earned during the same period last fiscal year.

Sales for the quarter were $266,205,000, a decrease of 0.1% compared with the same period in the prior year. Sales of stores open in both 13-week periods decreased 3.1%.

Randy Delchamps, chairman of the board of directors, president and CEO, said, "First quarter earnings were disappointing as the company faced continued entry of new competition in the marketplace."

MFA annual meeting showcases Mississippi's No. 1 cash crop

Mississippi Forestry Association's 57th annual meeting will be held Oct. 25-27 at the Broadwater Beach Resort Hotel in Biloxi.

"Managing and Investing in Mississippi's No. 1 Cash Crop" is this year's theme. According to the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, the state's 1993 timber harvest exceeded $1 billion for the first time, making timber Mississippi's No. 1 cash crop.

Keynote speaker is Mark Suwyn, executive vice-president-forestry and specialty products, International Paper Co. Suwyn will address the American Forest and Paper Association's Principles for Sustainable Forestry.

These forestry principles constitute AF&PA members' commitment to manage the forests to meet the needs of today without compromising future generations.

AF&PA members produce about 90 percent of paper products and over 60 percent of forest products in the United States.

John Rasor of Georgia-Pacific Corporation will speak on "Managing Mississippi's No. 1 Cash Crop." Rasor is vice-president of forest resources at Georgia-Pacific and has helped to develop AF&PA's sustainable forestry principles.

Michael Kelly of Forest Investment Associates will speak on "Investing in Mississippi's No. 1 Cash Crop." Kelly, a registered forester, directs timberland management in eight southern states, including Mississippi.

Other conference sessions will include "Hunting Leases: The Landowner's Perspective," "Louisiana Black Bear: Biology and Recovery," and "Thinning Techniques."

For registration information for the MFA annual meeting, contact MFA at 620 N. State Street, Suite 201, Jackson, MS 39202-3398 (phone: 354-4936; fax: 354-4937).

Nashville, Branson join cancer fight

Entertainer Suzi Bogguss and Premiere Radio Networks' Gerry House will be joined by Blackhawk, Tracy Lawrence, Diamond Rio, Vince Gill, Deborah Allen, The Gibson Miller Band and a host of other top name entertainers in the debut of Country's Cancer Fight, an unprecedented live national radio special benefiting the American Cancer Society.

Emanating from the historic Ryman Auditorium in Nashville, the eight-hour entertainment special will be broadcast live via satellite to radio stations throughout the United States on Monday, Oct. 24.

The Nashville show will coincide with a similar event originating from the Glen Campbell Goodtime Theatre in Branson, which will be hosted by Jim Stafford, Larry Black and Glen Campbell.

Special features from the Branson show will be included in the national radio broadcast. Continuous programming will include live performances from country's top entertainers along with humorous vignettes, interviews with the stars and glimpses of country life.

"A national radio special for cancer victims and their families is a great idea," said Phyllis Moran, executive director of the American Cancer Society in their community by calling 1-800-370-CURE," said Phyllis Moran, executive director.

"It's truly amazing and gratifying to see the way the country music industry has embraced this project," she remarked.

Enjoy fall colors in state forests

By Bethany L. Waldrop
MSU Ag Communications

The brilliant golds, reds and violets of autumn leaves often are credited to a visit from Jack Frost, but day length is the key to fall forest color.

Autumn's shorter days and longer nights cause the hardwood trees to prepare for upcoming winter months.

Dr. Stephen Dicke, extension forester in Raymond, said this winter preparation includes storing nutrients and building blocks including chlorophyll, the green pigment in leaves. The trees recycle the stored chlorophyll for use in the next year's leaves.

"As chlorophyll is stored in the branches, the leaves turn their bright fall shades," Dicke said. "Warm, sunny days followed by cool nights are prime conditions for enhancing fall leaf colors."

The leaves' transformation presents the perfect opportunity to get out and enjoy the cooler autumn days.

"Get outdoors and enjoy the natural beauty," Dicke said. "Plan to visit a national forest, state park, city park or the Natchez Trace Parkway to enjoy the fresh air and beautiful colors."

Brilliant shades of yellow are Mississippi forests' most common fall colors. The yellow hues come from the pigment xanthophyll.

Shades from light yellow to gold can be found in hickory, ash, pecan, walnut, tulip poplar, elm and American beech trees.

"Purples and deep reds may be our most prized fall colors in both forests and home landscapes," Dicke said. "Bradford pear trees, which provide white clouds of blooms in the spring, turn deep shades of red and purple in the fall."

The red and purple shades come from pigments called anthocyanins. Blackgum, sweetgum, red maple, dogwood and pin oaks also wear these vibrant shades in the fall.

Orange colors, from the pigment carotene, are rare in Mississippi forests. Carotene is the same pigment found in carrots.

"Some sugar maples and sassafras trees will display orange hues," Dicke said. "The orange shades in sugar maples are almost breathtakingly beautiful."

For more information on choosing landscape plants with bright fall color, contact a local county extension office.
